

Wildfire disaster, recovery, and resilience: what have we learned?

Wildfire recovery in the U.S., particularly in California, is a slow and complex process hindered by unique post-fire challenges like housing shortages, regulatory hurdles, and underinsurance, but innovative solutions are emerging to improve resilience and equity.

Crystal A. Kolden
Associate Professor in the Management of Complex Systems
School of Engineering, UC Merced

Thursday, January 16, 2025
2 p.m. – 4 p.m.
UCLA La Kretz Garden Pavilion

